FIFTY-FIFTH YEAR.

GREATEST NAVAL BATTLE OF AGE.

It Now Seems Imminent Between The Russian and Japanese Squadrons.

INTEREST CENTERED ON THE SEA

When the Contest Takes Place It Will Decide the Fate of the Far East.

ROJESTVENSKY HAS A BIG FLEET

Some Miles Ahead of It Are Twelve Scouting Vessels Sent Out By Togo.

London, April 8 .- The sudden shifting of interest in the war from the land to the sea and the apparently imminent prospects of a fateful battle between the Russian and Japanese squadrons in the China sea have revived all the interest shown here in the earlier developments of the struggle in the far east. It is taken for granted that Admiral Togo's ships reported to be in the neighborhood of Singapore in the middle of March are still in that vicinity and the report from Penang, on the west coast of the Malay peninsula, that 12 Japanese ships were seen steaming ahead of the Russian warships is interpreted to mean that the former are scouts sent out by Togo to get in touch with the Russians and when their object is accomplished to retire on the main body of the Japanese

The reports about the number of the Russian ships vary, but at any rate over 35 battleships, cruisers, colliers and torpedo boats have passed the port of Singapore. The underwriters here presume from the northeasterly course they were steering that after passing Singapore the Russians were attempting to reach the French port of Saigon, Cochin China. However, it is pointed out that a Japanese squadren of 22 ships is still off Hoersburg Light, where it was reported March 14. The two naval forces were this afteron only about 50 miles apart and may be in touch at any moment.

GREAT INTEREST IN RUSSIA St. Petersburg, April 8, 4:30 p. m.-ntense interest was aroused here today the announcement that Admira Rejesvensky's squadron was passing Singopore, but the admiralty does not dmit that it has received official con-irmation of the report. In fact, the oficials have observed unusual reticence for some time about the movements and intentions of the squadron, but as stated several times in these dispatches, the Associated Press had positive knowledge that Admiral Rojestvensky leaving Admiral Nebogatoff, commander of a division of the Second Pa effic squadron, behind and was bound for the far east to try conclusions with admiral Togo. All Russias hopes of changing the fortunes of war are staked upon the issue and for some time the admiralty has declared that only peace could intervene to prevent a final trial for the mastery of the sea. Unofficial information also indicated that Rejestvensky intended to pass the straits of Malacca. doubt, however, is expressed here as to whether the Russian squadron has yet reached a point so far on its jour-ney. According to Rojestvensky's let-ter to his wife, referred to in these dispatches April 4, the squardon in-tended to sail from Madagascar March 19. If it has been able to cover the intervening, 3,600 miles in 18 days at an erage speed of eight knots, not count ing the necessary stops to coal the smaller ships and the squadron has now arrived at the entrance of the China mea without encountering obstacles in shape of Japanese torpedo boats e is all the more reason for con-ulation. Rojestvensky's reports eports from Madagascar as to the effielency of the ships, personnel and gunnery have been satisfactory and they have greatly encouraged the admiralty. ROJESTVENSKY'S ARRIVAL CON-FIRMED.

CHANGE ON TRIBUNE.

Wing B. Allen Out, and Frank I. Siefert In-The Reason Why.

There has been another change on the Tribune. This time it is Mr. Wing B. Allen who steps out of the business office. He is to be, in fact has already meen, succeeded by Mr. Frank I. Siefert, heretofore the paper's political reporter.

There is much speculation as to why the change has occurred. It is stated that there were differnces of opinion as to the policy of the paper and that Mr. Allen did not care to longer be identified with a working force that was comprised entirely of generals and colonels, everyone of whom wanted to be IT with the word spelled in let-ters from the upper case box. How-ever, Mr. Allen himself would not admit that there was a story back of his resignation which was handed in on Wednesday night last. It will be remembered that Mr. Allen came here three years ago under the administration of Perry S. Heath and that he was made assistant general manager of the paper under that gentleman's adminis-tration. When Mr. Lippman came to the helm Mr. Alien continued in the same capacity as previously engaged, and in the management of the business affairs of the paper made numerous friends. It is reported that he did not quite agree with the editorial conduct of the paper, which required that all its renders should have an anti-"Mormon" menu of the most vitrolic and peppery character forced down their throats three times a day, when they were simply reaching out their hands n the most appealing manner possible for a milder, more pleasant and health-ful food. But concerning this Mr. Al-len would not say a word. He said that he was now initiating his success-or into the duties of the office and when that was done he would retire and go into business for himself. He had his plans pretty well matured and declared that they presented bigger op-portunities than those offered by the paper whose service he now leaves.

TYRANNY OF THE RUSSIAN CHURCH.

The Revolt Against it is Attracting Immense Attention.

CLERCY SPEAK THEIR VIEWS

They Are as Open on the Religious Subject as Liberals Are in Political Matters.

St. Petersburg, April 8.-The revolt against the tyranny of the church adninistration is attracting immense attention. The clergy are now speaking their sentiments quite as openly on re ligion as are Liberals in the political field. The intimate connection between the movements for the regeneration of printed this morning as ascribed to "a high ecclesiastic," in which the writer

The church as a living idea is inextricably bound up with Russian life, and when the Russian public realized that they could not any longer exist without breaking the shackles of the bureaueracy the church awoke from 200 years of lethargy and its first murmur was that it was the universal right of every thinking Russian to do his task with freedom."

The letter further declares that for years the clergy were held so closely in the vice of obedience not to an idea, but to the dictates of one man who virutally said "I am the church," that they had become automatons to register his decrees and now with the prospect of liberty before them they are ter his decrees and now with the pros-pect of liberty before them they are hardly capable of raising their voices. In the cities, it is added, there have been many instances where the church has been used as a political machine to stir up hatred and strife between the various classes of the population refer-ring especially to the recent incitement of the ignorant against the intelligent. JAPAN WILL DEMAND IDEMNITY

War Was Forced Upon Her and Her Whole Existence is Staked On the Outcome.

A PERMANENT PEACE WANTED.

No Definite Terms Stated - Russia May "Save Her Face," if She Is Able to.

London, April 8. Baron Suyematsu, terior, has written an interesting and significant article for the Outlook under the heading "War and Indemnity-The Japanese Claim."

The whole trend of the article is intended to show that Japan will carry on the war until Russia consents to pay indemnity. The baron says:

"A canon of the Japanese bushido is One should not unsheath the sword unless one is totally overcome or has secured equitable satisfaction for one's cause.' This is our ideal in internations at intercourse. The sword of Japan is drawn, and the alm for which it was unsheathed has scarcely been attained. We want a peace which will secure tranquility in the far east for at least a generation or two.

"The world should know that in the present war Japan staked her whole existence, whereas with the enemy it was a mere war of caprice. Why, then, in case of defeat should not Russia be made responsible in equitable accordance with the nature of the affair? I believe, therefore, that in case of the adversary asking for peace the satisfaction which she will have to make to Japan should include making good the material loss of Japan; in other words, ndemnity.

Baron Suvematsu gavs further "Japan has not formulated definite terms of peace, because she might be accused of skinning the bear before it is shot. We have, however, outlined

The article argues out the righteous-ness of Japan's position in demanding indemnity as a basic condition and controverts the idea which he says, he finds prevalent outside of Japan, that finds prevalent outside of Japan, that Japan is willing to make peace at any price. "Some say," the baron continues. "that for humanity's sake an armistice should be concluded with a view to nespotiating peace. It is all very well to talk of humanity, but no injustice must be perpetrated in the name of humanity. If a proposition arising out of the question of humanity gives more advantage to one than another of the contending parties it cannot be justice." Baron Suyematsu treats sarcastically the special plea that Russia should be allowed to "save her face," and compares Japan to a dwarf fighting a giant, ind says:

"The public at large seems to have gauged the relative value of Russia and Japan. They are glad that the large bubble which had been causing a nightmare to so many people for so long time has been pricked. They have see that it was no use to suppress Japan's aspiration by the combined force of western powers. Yet there seems float-ing in the air some sort of comparison for our adversary. This I deem an inconsistency arising out of some phycho-logical instability."

Baron Suyematsu refers to the announcement of St. Petersburg early in the war that an enormous indemnity would be demanded, and that the terms would be dictated in Tokio. "We are far from assuming such an attitude," the writer says, "but we believe that justice ought to be done us. No mere sentiment shall be allowed to decide the merits of the case."

the merits of the case."

In conclusion Baron Suyematsu says:
"Some say that Japan might be induced to forego a claim for indemnity provided England and America gave good assurance for future peace. We appreciate, of course, the general sentiment of England and America. We are anxious to maintain the best friendship with these two countries, more ship with these two countries, more particularly than other countries. We should therefore be very sorry if we are to be told that we should forego on account of that friendship any claim to what we deem just."

PRIMARY WORKERS HOLD CONFERENCE

Mothers Discuss the Needs and Teaching of the Little Folks.

HOW TO MANAGE THE CHILD.

Effect of Tragical Subjects on Youthful Minds - The Work Advancing.

The conference of the general and stake officers of the Primary associations was held this morning, the representatives assembling in Memorial hall, but adjourning to Barratt hall later as the throng increased beyond the capacity of the room. On the stand were the president, her counselors and aids. and members of the general board. while the hall was filled with the stake representatives

The meeting opened with prayer by Mrs. Aurelia Rogers, and was presided over by Mrs. Louie B. Felt, the general president. Several papers were read. and beautiful vocal solos were rendered by Miss Margaret Hull and Mrs. Louie Keysor, the latter accompanied with the violin played by Miss Vera

Mrs. Felt addressed the assemblage, expressing her pleasure at seeing so many present, especially as she believed the Primary work to be among the most important in the Church. It meant the training of little children to be good men and women, and it was asy to trace the influence of the Primary work in the Mutual Improve-ment members when they were turned over from the Primaries to that body Instruction had been given to try and have all children from the ages of 4 to 14 in the Primaries, and a good work had been done in effecting this by the missionaries visiting the homes of the

Mrs. Florence Snow Critchlow read a paper on "How to Increase Attendance at Primaries," and opened by reance at Primaries," and opened by referring to the parable of the one lost sheep, and said the spirit of that parable of the importance of gathering everyone into the fold, should hispire the teacher and no effort should be spaced. The three main things were the qualification of the teacher, the making of the meetings interesting, and the cooperation of the parents; but the Spirit of God must be the magic key opening asm are necessary in the teacher and to be an inspiration she must hold in her heart an overflowing love, and this will always be reflected back from the child A good way to attract the children to the meetings is to have them comearly and let some child select a game and all, including officers, join in a romp. Surprise them sometimes with refreshments and dancing parties.

CHILD MANAGEMENT.

Mrs. Ruth Penrose spoke on the subject of the "Management of Difficult Children," and said that attention must be paid to different temperaments. The nervous, sanguine, bilious and phleg-matic, were the four general types, and the teacher should gauge her attitude and method to best meet the require ments of these individualities. A nervous child must never be impatiently lealt with; a bashful child must have and kindness were the chief factors of

OBJECT LESSONS.

The assemblage sang, "Our Work is For the Children," and then Mrs. L. G. Richards spoke upon the harm of put-ting tragical subjects before children; said that beautiful things must be dwelt upon, and the serious or tragi-al dealt with as lightly as possible. An incident was recited of a little child who had heard at the Primary meeting the story of the Crucilxion, At night when told to say his prayers, he re-sponded: "I'm not going to pray any more. God is dead any way, and it's This illustrates the impres ion ant to be made on childish minds by tragical stories.

THE WORK IN OREGON.

Mrs. Stoddart, president of the Ore gon stake Primaries, was called and said that there were 11 associations in the stake and a splendid work was being done. Mrs. Elizabeth Leighton of St. Joseph stake, Artzona , responded in place of the president and said while she was not very well acquainted with the prac-tical work of the primaries in her stake, yet she knew they were in good lition and at the annual conference large attendance always demon strated the warm interest shown in the

Mrs. Ida Smith explained that the general conference of the Primaries was held in June, and that was why all representatives were not heard from at

Mrs. Bennion of Murray, said she had visited various of the ward con-ferences, and thought the ideal meeting was that at which the children occupied the platform with the ward officers, the meeting thus being in a way put into their hands. WIFE MARY'S CLAIM IN BANK'S REALTY.

Ex-Senator Rawlins, in Schedule, Says Mrs. Schettler Owns One Third.

LIST NOW IN FEDERAL COURT.

Was Filed There This Afternoon and Shows Banker's Liabilities to Reach $98,895.

ASSETS PLACED AT $90.139.60.

Said Mrs. Schettler Will Relinquish Her Title of One Third to the Bank's Crediters.

In the federal court this afternoon the long expected schedule in bankrupt. y of B. H. Schettler was filed. The document is a bulky one, with totals of the involved amounts reaching close to $100,000. The biggest item is a complete list of all depositors in the defunct bank, followed by smaller items of unpaid taxes and other preferred claims, amounting to about $500.

One clause in the schedule prepared by ex-Senator Jos. L. Rawlins, brings a new feature into the financial status of the assets. It asserts that "all of the real estate set forth in this schedule is subject to the right of Mary Morgan Schettler, wife of the bankrupt, as set forth by paragraph 2826 revised statutes State of Utah, 1898."

According to the provisions of this statute Mary Morgan Schettler, it is contended, owns, a one-third interest in all the real estate holdings of the banker, debt and lien free, except as to taxes and money spent in improvements on the land. The Brigham street omestead is not mentioned in the schedule, and this right extends over ill other property, which has been hereofore rated as the principal asset. upon which cash could be realized. The property as listed by Schettler is valued at $61,000; of which hir wife retains one-third or $29,333 free from any lien of the bank's creditors.

The paragraph of the law referred to is as follows: "Wife's interest in husband's real property.—One-third in value of all the legal or equitable estates in real property possessed by the husband at any law time during the marriage. band at any time during the marriage. and to which th linquishment of her rights, shall be apart as her property in fee simple Property distributed under the provisions of this section shall be free from all debts of the decedent except those secured by mechanics' or laborers' liens for work or labor done or material fur-nished exclusively for the improvement of the same, and except those created purchase thereof, and for taxes levied thereon.'

ITEMS OF THE SCHEDULE.

The liabilities reach a total of $98,-895.80, of which $98.347 represents cash received on deposit, and the balance claims outstanding for taxes. The liabilities as listed now are reduced from the original total by the payment of the Miller judgment against the bank. The assets, which go in at practically the valuations on Schettler's books, total $90,129.60. The Schettler's books, total $50,139,50. The principal items are real estate, $61,000; outstanding notes, $18,000; cash on hand, $1,200; due on open accounts, $1,800; stocks and bonds, $1,500. Claimed as exempt in this list, in addition to the one-third of all real property, is $3,050, to which the banker is entitled. under different paragraphs of the bankruptcy law.

At the office of Rawlins & Ray, who prepared the schedule it was learned by the "News" from Mr. Ray that case the right of Mary Schettler stablished to the one-third interest it the real property, she will relinquish her claim and donate the property to the creditors, reserving only enoug for a home and maintenance for her self and children.
